INTRODUCTION

An insurance broker by trade, Joseph Schwartz aggressively leaped into the nursing home business just years ago and took over the operations of more than 150 skilled nursing facilities, including dozens here in Arkansas. This Complaint arises, upon information and belief, out of a scheme perpetrated by Joseph Schwartz and his representatives to acquire nursing homes with no intention of providing quality patient care, but for the purpose of requiring the facilities to purchase insurance from the insurance company to whom he sold his insurance brokerage company and thus, maximizing his profits from that transaction. Prior to this scheme, Mr. Schwartz had no experience in the nursing home industry. In the course of four months, he took over 19 facilities in South Dakota, 15 in Kansas and 32 in Nebraska. See Exhibit A- “Failing care: ‘Bad Actor’ ran operations at nursing homes in Pa. for 14 months before being ousted.” Reading Eagle. Just as quickly as he grew this troubled empire, it came down. As this house of cards fell apart and the dust settled, Joseph Schwartz's sudden leap into the nursing home world left in its wake receiverships, unpaid vendors and patients put at risk by Mr. Schwartz's greed. Id.

Twin Med, LLC is a supplier of disposable medical supplies. Twin Med began working with Mr. Schwartz and his various entities in or about late 2016 or early 2017. Two years before this business relationship began, Mr. Schwartz sold his insurance company, Oxford Coverage to Hub International Ltd. Oxford sold commercial lines of insurance for the nursing home and assisted living industry. After selling his insurance business, and with no background in operating nursing homes, Mr. Schwartz began aggressively acquiring nursing home operations all over the United States. Mr. Schwartz engaged Twin Med to sell disposable medical supplies for his various entities. Later, Twin Med, like many other vendors, went unpaid when Mr. Schwartz's scheme fell apart. Mr. Schwartz and the various nursing home operations owned by Mr. Schwartz ("Defendants") and Twin Med entered into an agreement whereby the Defendants agreed to purchase goods from Twin Med, which Mr. Schwartz personally guaranteed.

Unbeknownst to Plaintiff, the Corporate Defendants were nothing more than an alter ego of Mr. Schwartz and were being used by Mr. Schwartz for his own personal enrichment, by ensuring that premiums that were a part of the transaction with Oxford were paid. Plaintiff seeks to collect the debt owed by the Corporate Defendants and Mr. Schwartz individually pursuant to his personal guarantee. In addition, Plaintiff seeks to pierce the corporate veil of same to reach Mr. Schwartz individually as he has misused and abused the corporate form of all of the Corporate Defendants in a scheme to drain the operating companies of capital and misappropriate funds for his personal ventures. If Mr. Schwartz is allowed to use the corporate entities to avoid personal liability for these debts, it would promote fraud and injustice.

Failing care: 'Bad actor' ran operations at nursing homes in Pa. for 14 months before being ousted

Questions linger about failed management company Skyline Healthcare, including what the state knew about its owner, and how well it vetted him.

WRITTEN BY NICOLE C. BRAMBILA (/APPS/PBCS.DLL/PERSONALIA?ID=69)

In less than two years, Joseph Schwartz grew his New Jersey-based nursing home chain, Skyline Healthcare LLC, from about two dozen homes to 120 scattered across 10 states, including Pennsylvania. Then, almost as quickly, it collapsed amid allegations that he charged employees for health insurance he had never bought, and financial problems that officials in several states allege left residents at risk.

Four years before the former New York insurance broker began to expand his company in Pennsylvania, he was taken to court in Florida, accused of diverting premiums that should have been spent on employee health care claims.

Skyline's financial collapse forced the state Department of Health to remove managers at seven of its homes in Pennsylvania

Documents obtained under the state's Right-to-Know Act (<https://www.scribd.com/document/396477534/Pennsylvania-Office-of-Open-Records-final-determination>) suggest the state's review of Schwartz's suitability to take over a number of troubled nursing homes in the state, including one in Berks County, relied heavily on self-reported information.

Consequently, hundreds of nursing home residents in Pennsylvania were put at risk and employees were put in an untenable position (<https://www.readingeagle.com/news/article/nursing-home-workers-struggling-to-keep-skyline-healthcare-facility-operating-union-says>), attempting to care for patients that Skyline could no longer afford to feed or medicate.

The conditions became so dire that Skyline employees tried to shield their residents from the fallout. Employees interviewed for this story described purchasing, at their own expense, snacks for sick patients and gasoline for company vans to transport them. Staff also reported hiding cash in a freezer to pay wary vendors who refused to accept Skyline's checks.

Shelley Robinson, a health care worker at a former Skyline home in Lancaster County, was unaware that Schwartz was sued in a Florida court over unpaid health care claims. The state should have known, she said.

"I want to know how the state didn't know," said Robinson, who works at Rose City Nursing and Rehabilitation in Lancaster. "These people are doing business in your state."

While industry leaders blamed ownership churn and stagnant Medicaid reimbursement rates, they also acknowledged that most health care providers find a way to keep the pantries stocked and their employees paid.

"The vast majority of providers in the commonwealth are not engaging in this practice, and they have the same Medicaid rates," said W. Russ McDaid, former executive director of the Pennsylvania Health Care Association, which represents 500 members. "This was a bad actor that engaged in bad practices."

In the wake of Skyline's financial collapse, accusations leveled against Schwartz in 2012 by the state of Florida read like an unheeded warning. Because licenses to operate health care facilities are not transferable, Schwartz, who already operated two nursing homes in Pennsylvania, was required to submit an application when he bought the operating rights to seven poor-performing homes, including one in Exeter Township, from Golden Living Centers in 2017.

To approve a license change, Pennsylvania requires the provider have no criminal past and be "a responsible person." Because the Florida lawsuit was a civil matter, it would not appear in a criminal case search.

When Pennsylvania ousted Skyline in April, the Reading Eagle requested copies of all documents the Health Department reviewed before approving the license transfer. Health officials released some documents and withheld others, making it difficult to determine the thoroughness of the state's assessment of Schwartz.

The department released nearly 300 pages, but those documents reveal little about Schwartz's capacity to take on the troubled Golden Living homes, which in a 2015 lawsuit was accused by the state attorney general's office of failing to provide basic care.

Vetting or not?

The Health Department declined to discuss how deeply it examined Schwartz's background, but the public record offers some clues.

In addition to the Florida lawsuit, that record includes a 2009 Pennsylvania lawsuit from a pharmacy claiming breach of contract, several business liens and a $2,500 New York State Insurance Department fine from a decade ago, levied when Schwartz, without a license, helped a company act as an insurance broker.

Since his abrupt exit from the nursing home business, several vendors and the state of Kansas have filed lawsuits against Schwartz alleging nonpayment for services.

Dr. Rachel Levine, state health secretary, declined repeated requests for comment. Department spokesman Nate Wardle would not say if the agency was aware of the Florida lawsuit and the allegations leveled against Schwartz. He said the department evaluates operators as required by law, which includes "ensuring the buyer does not have any issues at other facilities, does not have a criminal past and is capable of providing safe care."

Schwartz also did not respond to repeated requests for comment.

"States don't generally do a good job evaluating the character and competence of nursing home owners," said Richard Mollot, director of the Long Term Care Community Coalition in New York, a nonprofit dedicated to improving the quality of life for nursing home residents. "There will be more Skylines because the state agencies do not do their job in vetting owners."

The big expansion

Deciphering when and where Schwartz added nursing homes to his portfolio is difficult, even for agencies with oversight. At least two states — Florida and Tennessee — were unable to verify all the Skyline facilities Schwartz held, according to Shelia Coleman, spokeswoman for Florida Agency for Health Care Administration, and Bill Christian, associate director of the Tennessee Department of Health.

From December 2015 through February 2017, when Pennsylvania gave Skyline the green light, Schwartz made several bold moves that dramatically grew his skilled nursing company from about 24 facilities to 120.

At least two-thirds of the facilities Schwartz's Skyline began to manage were former Golden Living homes. In Pennsylvania, those homes had a long history of quality issues, dating to Beverly Healthcare's management before Golden Living took ownership in 2006. Those issues included insufficient staffing. A proper staffing level is universally recognized as the key to making good care possible.

In fall 2016, when Schwartz began applying for ownership of the homes in Pennsylvania, he was required to disclose his operating interest in more than 100 skilled nursing facilities on state and federal forms. So far, the state has refused to release those forms, along with some two dozen others requested by the newspaper in May.

Even if Schwartz disclosed the other leases, the Health Department forms do not ask how long a provider has owned or managed a facility. So, it is unknown whether health officials could have known of Skyline's rapid expansion and how this could adversely impact Pennsylvania nursing home residents.

Bells and whistles'

A massive dozens of leases across multiple states should have raised solvency questions, said Steve Monroe, a finance expert and partner at Irving Levin Associates, a Connecticut research firm that specializes in senior and health care investment markets.

"To go from 15 to 120 (facilities), you need working capital," said Monroe. "This whole thing was a mess that never should have happened. You need a hell of a lot of capital just to fund operations until the reimbursements kick in."

The health department refused to make public documents that might have disclosed the financial requirements the state requires of nursing home applicants. Nor does the state require a surety bond, a financial guarantee that owners will meet their obligations.

So with the stroke of a pen in February 2017, Schwartz expanded his company in Pennsylvania from three facilities — an assisted living residence and two nursing homes — to 10.

In the four months prior, he scooped up the leases for 19 facilities in South Dakota, 15 in Kansas and 32 in Nebraska, all previously operated by Golden Living.

"Obviously, bells and whistles should have been going off around the country," Monroe said.

Premiums vanish

Nursing home caregivers can put in long hours, but Robinson said she was working overtime to catch up on a $3,000 medical debt incurred after she and her daughter caught the flu in January 2018.

That's when she discovered that despite the monthly premium deductions from her paycheck, she didn't have health care coverage.

"I didn't believe them at first because I'm paying," said Robinson, who works at the Lancaster nursing home. "It's coming out of my check. Why wouldn't I have coverage?"

She was not alone.

Members of Service Employees International Union Healthcare Pennsylvania, described disruptions in health care, dental and life insurance coverage under Skyline's management.

"Some of our members just took a financial hit," said Matthew Yarnell, president of SEIU Healthcare, which represents more than 300 employees at four former Skyline homes, including Fairlane Gardens Nursing and Rehabilitation Center in Exeter Township.

And it wasn't just Skyline employees in Pennsylvania who were affected.

Former employees in South Dakota also described being on the hook — some for tens of thousands of dollars — for medical or dental care after health care providers informed them that their insurance with Skyline had lapsed.

In Kansas, Department of Aging and Disability Secretary Timothy E. Keck filed a lawsuit alleging that Schwartz and his wife and sons "deliberately withheld premium payments from employees' paychecks for health insurance and other benefits but did not purchase health insurance for the employees."

The Schwartzes either lacked the capital to meet their payroll obligations, the suit alleged, "or converted the funds to their own use," according to the complaint. The lawsuit has since been withdrawn with the ability to refile later.

Schwartz's attorney, Frederick H. Riesmeyer II, declined to comment, as did Bryan W. Smith, who represents Kansas.

Waves of woe

The unpaid health care premiums had a ripple effect in the wider business community, too.

Dr. Clay Yeoman, a dentist in the tiny community of Redfield, S.D., had to return $5,000 in claims from Skyline employees that the insurance company initially paid, then rescinded.

One of Yeoman's part-time employees, who worked full time for Skyline, was left with an unpaid health care bill of more than $10,000, he said.

"We couldn't understand how they could cut off coverage in the middle of the month," said Yeoman. "I had to reimburse the insurance company for all of the claims, because the premiums had never been sent."

Employees found out when Yeoman's office contacted them for payment.

For Yeoman, practicing in a town of about 2,300 people, the Skyline crisis meant he wasn't just left scrambling for payments; now his uncovered patients weren't coming in for dental work, either.

"Every once in a while, you might have a problem with a single claim, but not a whole group," he said. "All along I've been saying somebody didn't do their due diligence. This was just outright fraud."

3 Explain to the public'

In 2009, before Congress passed the Affordable Care Act to rein in skyrocketing health care costs, Traditions Senior Management sought advice from Schwartz on how to bridge rising insurance premiums for employees at health care facilities it managed in Florida.

Subscribe now for $99 for the first month

Schwartz, who had worked as Traditions' insurance broker since 2002, recommended the company self insure as other clients had done, according to court documents. <https://www.readingeagle.com/2018/02/21/news/2018/02/21/traditions-senior-management-operations-at-nursing-homes-in-pa-for-14-months-before-being-booted/cancelled/>

From Sept. 1, 2009, to Aug. 2, 2011, Schwartz collected more than $4.7 million in employee health premiums, according to Florida court filings.

In the early summer of 2011, Traditions became aware that legitimate employee health care claims were not being processed or paid. Most claims were several months old, but some had dragged out for more than a year.

The cost of these outstanding claims, according to court documents, neared $1 million (<https://www.scribd.com/document/396478179/Traditions-Amended-Complaint-1-8-2013>).

"The amount of the unprocessed and unpaid claims became so large that Traditions requested the claims documentation so that Traditions, at its own cost and to mitigate damages, could pay health claims for employees who were damaged due to nonpayment," the complaint read.

Schwartz denied that his companies had operated as a third-party insurance administrator and that he was entrusted with employee health care premiums for the purpose of paying claims.

The parties settled out of court in 2014. The settlement was not made part of the public record.

Marion Hale, a Florida attorney who represented Schwartz and his companies, did not return multiple emails and phone calls seeking comment. Neither did Shirin M. Vesely, who represented Traditions.

State officials need to explain what went wrong in the Skyline case and what lessons were learned, said Sam Brooks, an attorney with Community Legal Services in Philadelphia and a leading advocate in Pennsylvania for quality care and oversight.

"The burden's on them," he said. "How could this not be foreseeable? They need to explain to the public what happened."

Few were aware Schwartz worked as a New York broker or the accusations that led to the Florida lawsuit. But all agreed Schwartz's past business dealings were relevant in evaluating his suitability.

"If you're stealing people's premiums, you're not a responsible person," said Monroe, the Connecticut expert on health care investment markets. "If that had come up, he should have been disqualified, in my opinion."

Hunt for the paper trail

Health officials have disclosed little about the change of ownership process. What can be gleaned from the internal decision-making must be surmised from the roughly 40 pages of routine filings the department released for each facility.

Those documents include letters of intent from Golden Living and Skyline, license certificates, the new employer's Internal Revenue Service ID number, receipt letters, and a form letter to Schwartz listing the documents required for state approval, among others.

The Eagle asked for the management agreement as well as any documents identifying the quality and financial criteria used to approve Skyline's license.

The department withheld 21 records, citing a provision in the Open Records law that exempts documents that would reveal a company's proprietary secrets. Those records included a lease agreement between the department and Schwartz.

Subscribe now for $99 for the first month lease as well as a list of Golden Living facilities, Schwartz's resume and profile and 10 questions the department asks new providers (<https://readingeagle.com/portal/#/offers/4?returnUrl=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.readingeagle.com%2Fnews%2Farticle%2Ffailing-care-bad-actor-ran-operations-at-nursing-homes-in-pa-for-14-months-before-being ousted&cancelUrl=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.readingeagle.com%2Fnews%2Farticle%2Ffailing-care-bad-actor-ran-operations-at-nursing-homes-in-pa-for-14-months-before-being ousted>)

On appeal, the courts typically uphold Open Records' opinions, as a three-judge panel did recently in a Right-to-Know case involving similar Golden Living records the health department withheld in 2017.

'Asking us to trust them'

At issue in the court case is whether the state acted appropriately when it withheld the records, and whether the agency must divulge the information it reviewed in the licensing process. But for nursing home employees, residents and their loved ones, the issue is one of public trust.

Before the Health Department stepped in with temporary managers, Skyline employees said they struggled to protect residents from feeling the brunt of Skyline's demise.

They described creating a human chain to pass food trays upstairs after an elevator company refused to make repairs because of nonpayment; doing eight hours of work in six; and buying juice for diabetic patients who could slip into a coma if their blood-sugar level dipped too low.

"I wish they would have vetted him," said Theresa Dante, a former nursing home cook in South Dakota who was left liable for a $330 medical bill.

For family members with loved ones in Pennsylvania's nursing homes, the regulatory oversight is supposed to mean they can have confidence providers will meet state and federal standards of care.

Frank Denbowski's 64-year-old father has called Fairlane Gardens in Exeter home since June 2016. He's noticed an appreciable difference since the new operators took over a little more than two weeks after the state stepped in with temporary managers in April.

The administration is more responsive, Denbowski said.

The menu is reliable and physical therapy sessions resumed, which meant the family could, for the first time in a long while, take their father out for a Thanksgiving meal of ham and mashed potatoes at a local diner.

"It's the responsibility of the state to act in the best interest of the nursing home resident," said Denbowski, formerly a special assistant to former Reading Mayor Vaughn D. Spencer. "The state is asking us to trust them in taking care of the well-being of our loved ones. This is just not any consumer product. I have to trust the right people are running the facility."

MEDICAL SUPPLY AGREEMENT

This Medical Supply Services Agreement ("Agreement") is entered into as of November 1, 2017 ("Effective Date") by and between Skyline Healthcare, LLC ("Company"), on behalf of itself and the facilities listed in Exhibit "A" ("Covered Facilities"), and Twin Med, LLC. ("Supplier") in witness of the following:

- A. Whereas Supplier is a distributor of Disposable Medical Supplies and other supplies ("Covered Supplies") for skilled nursing care, post acute care and related facilities; and
- B. Whereas Company has contracted with and been authorized by the Covered Facilities to order, purchase and otherwise supply Disposable and related supplies for the operating needs of the Covered Facilities; and
- C. Whereas Supplier has agreed to accept orders from Company on the terms set forth herein;

NOW, THEREFORE, for good and valuable consideration, Supplier and Company agree as follows:

AGREEMENT

1. SUPPLY ORDERS.

1.1 Medical Supplies. Supplier will provide pursuant to the terms of the Agreement, those medical supplies specifically listed in Exhibit "B" ("Covered Supplies"), that are ordered (stating the item description and the desired quantity) by a Covered Facility. Covered Facility will order only those supplies necessary to meet the needs of its current residents/patients.

1.2 Order Fill Guarantee. Supplier will make its best effort to fill and deliver Orders for Covered Supplies. In the event that Supplier cannot or does not deliver a Covered Supply ordered, the Covered Facility will be entitled to obtain a written approval from a Supplier representative to purchase the Covered Supply from a different vendor ("Substitution Approval"). Supplier agrees to provide such Substitution Approval within no more than twenty-four (24) hours, and agrees to act in good faith in providing such Substitution Approvals. Supplier shall credit the account of the Covered Facility for the cost of each Covered Supply for which Substitution Approval was obtained, within ten (10) days of receiving an invoice for the substituted supply, based on the actual cost billed to the Covered Facility by the vendor from which the substituted supply was obtained. In the event Supplier does not deliver a Covered Supply that a Covered Facility orders, it remains the sole responsibility of the Covered Facility to ensure that all necessary supplies are procured.

2. PURCHASE TERMS AND CONDITIONS.

2.1 Ship and Bill and Per Patient Day Rates. Company and/or Covered Facilities shall choose to pay a per patient day rate to Supplier in exchange for services rendered by Supplier hereunder ("PPD Rate") or Ship and Bill for services rendered by Supplier hereunder price list. The "PPD Rate" and "Ship and Bill Rate" are specified in Exhibit "C" hereto. As Ship and Bill prices for products may change during the course of the relationship between the parties, Company represents that, it has reviewed the current prices and they are correct as of the date of this contract. Supplier agrees to work with Company to match product costs if they are accompanied by a bona fide price quote from a similar national distributor of medical supplies. Any request by Company for a change in price must be submitted by Company in email form and sent to David Blonder at dblonder@twinmed.com. If for PPD, Supplier shall, on a monthly basis, determine the total payment owing hereunder by multiplying the applicable PPD Rate by the number of patient days at each of the Covered Facilities ("PPD Payment"). Supplier shall deliver an invoice for the PPD Payment ("PPD Invoice") to each Covered Facility. Each Covered Facility, shall provide Supplier with the number of patient days at each Covered Facility for each month, no later than the fifteenth (15th) of the following month. After 120 days, with 30 days written notice, either party reserves the right to switch PPD Covered Facilities to Ship and Bill or vice versa. If a Covered Facility's acuity level materially changes for any reason during the term, then the parties agree to renegotiate the PPD Rate according to the terms stated above. Under the Ship and Bill program and the PPD program, Company and/or Covered Facilities agree to purchase at least ninety percent (90%) of Covered Facilities' medical supply needs.

2.2 Payment Terms. Supplier shall be paid all amounts stated on each PPD or Ship and Bill Invoice within 90 days following the date of the Invoice. Payments that are delinquent by more than 5 days (i.e., paid within 95 days after the date of the PPD or Ship and Bill Invoice) shall be subject to a delinquency fee equal to twelve percent (12%) annually (compounded monthly) of the past due balance.

3. TERM AND TERMINATION.

3.1 Term of Agreement. This Agreement shall commence on the Effective Date and remain in force for a period of 3 years from the Effective Date (Initial Term), unless sooner terminated according to the terms stated herein.

3.2 Termination due to the Material Breach. In the event of any material breach hereunder by a party, the non-breaching party may terminate this Agreement if the breaching party fails to cure such breach within thirty (30) days after the breaching party's receipt of written notice of such breach. Material breaches include, but are not limited to, the failure of Supplier to make timely deliveries and the failure of Supplier and/or Company to maintain any regulatory, or professional licensure, permit of certification required to carry out its duties hereunder. If Company and/or covered facilities have past due balances as stated herein that exceed one million ($1,000,000) dollars in the aggregate then Company and covered facilities shall be deemed automatically in breach of contract with or without a notice of breach from Supplier, and Supplier shall thereafter be free to pursue all available remedies without waiver of any of its rights.

3.3 Effect of Termination. All obligations of the parties necessary to the fulfillment of the terms stated herein remain in effect notwithstanding termination of this Agreement. Upon termination of this Agreement for any reason, Supplier shall be entitled to payment according to the terms stated herein of any amounts owed for orders, whether delivered before or after the date of termination. Once Supplier has received or provided notice of termination pursuant to the terms stated herein, Supplier is obligated to fill Orders for quantities of supplies reasonably calculated to meet the needs of the Covered Facility up to and through the date of termination.

4. NOTICES. All notices required to be provided under this Agreement shall be provided in writing either by certified mail or other method of delivery that requires written acknowledgment of receipt by the receiving party. Notices shall be provided as follows:

If to Supplier:

Twin Med, LLC
11333 Greenstone Ave
Santa Fe Springs, California 90670
C/O David Blonder

If to Company:

Skyline Healthcare, LLC
40 Vreeland Avenue
Totowa, NJ 07512
C/O Sam Rosenbaum

5. ATTORNEY'S FEES.

5.1 In the event any action is undertaken to enforce the terms of this Agreement, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover its actual attorney's fees and costs, in addition to any other relief to which it may be entitled.

6. CONFIDENTIALITY OF AGREEMENT.

6.1 The terms and conditions of this Agreement, including but not limited to the PPD Rate and Ship and Bill rates are confidential and shall not be disclosed by Customer and/or covered facilities without the written consent of the Supplier, unless such disclosure is compelled by law.

7. GENERAL PROVISIONS.

7.1 This agreement constitutes the entire agreement and understanding of the parties with respect to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all prior agreements or understandings between Supplier and Company/Covered Facilities. "Supplier" and "Company" agree that this agreement will govern any future facilities that the Company may manage during the term of the contract. This agreement may not be modified, changed or altered, except by an instrument in writing signed by the party sought to be charged. This agreement shall be binding upon all successors in interest of either party unless terminated pursuant to the terms stated herein. The parties shall provide thirty (30) days prior notice of any assignment or assumption of this Agreement by a successor in interest. This Agreement is to be construed and interpreted under the laws of the State of California. If any part of this Agreement shall be deemed invalid or unenforceable, it shall not affect the validity of the balance of this Agreement. This Agreement may be executed in any number of counterparts, and by each of the parties on separate counterparts, each of which, when so executed, shall be deemed an original, but all of which shall constitute but one and the same instrument.

Delivery of an executed counterpart of this Agreement by facsimile, or any other electronic means, shall be equally as effective as the delivery of a manually executed original counterpart of this Agreement. If either party's performance under this Agreement is prevented by a Force Majeure, then such performance is excused. The failure or neglect by Twin Med to enforce any of its rights under this Agreement will not be deemed to be a waiver of Twin Med's rights hereunder, and no single or partial exercise of any right or remedy by Twin Med will preclude any other or further exercise of right or remedy of Twin Med hereunder, and Twin Med's failure or neglect (including, by way of example, through any course of dealing or other extrinsic evidence of any nature) to enforce any of its rights under this Agreement shall not be deemed to be a waiver, variant, amendment, modification, contradiction, or supplement of this Agreement of Twin Med's rights hereunder.

8. AUTHORITY TO BIND.

8.1 Company warrants the undersigned has unqualified legal Authority to bind Skyline, Healthcare, LLC and the Covered Facilities to the terms of this Agreement.
